

ABSTRACT

A folding box for articles, such as a jar with a screw lid, having fixing surfaces to retain the article in a centered position in the box, a reinforced base which is recessed to provide a platform inside the box for elevation of the article within the box, and to enable one box to be stacked upon another.